

SCHOOL OF NURSING

University of Medicine & Dentistry of New Jersey

Associate Dean for Research Newark, NJ

UMDNJ-School of Nursing is on the forefront of nursing education and scholarship. Its innovative academic program, offered on campuses in Newark and Stratford, NJ, includes the first Doctor of Nursing Practice program to be launched in New Jersey and the state's largest selection of MSN specialty tracks. Its Center for Evidence Based Nursing Practice is one of only three United States affiliates with the international Joanna Briggs Institute.

The School is seeking an outstanding individual to provide visionary leadership and administration of its research enterprise. The position is located on UMDNJ's Newark campus.

The Associate Dean for Research will play a central role in moving the School toward its goal of being the nation's premiere site for basic, translational and clinical nursing research and a recognized center for training nurse scientists.

The Associate Dean for Research will:

- support faculty in their scholarly pursuits and in obtaining extramural funding for their research;
- oversee continued development of the School's research policies and programmatic research focus areas that reflect current and projected strengths;
- nurture links with the educational community at-large; and
- foster multidisciplinary national and international collaboration in research and scholarship.

Qualifications

Earned doctorate in Nursing or related field required; must be eligible for appointment as associate or full professor. Successful candidate will have an active program of research, and possess a distinctive record of extramural funding, and scholarly publication.

UMDNJ offers a competitive salary & comprehensive benefits package.
