

Endowed Professorship of Oncology Nursing

The University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey-School of Nursing (UMDNJ-SN) is inviting applications for the UMDNJ Endowed Professorship of Oncology Nursing. Our search is for a senior scholar, whose expertise will enhance our program, providing leadership in the field of Oncology Nursing.

The holder of this professorship will enter a rich research and practice environment with opportunity to collaborate with colleagues at the Cancer Institute of New Jersey, an NCI-designated Comprehensive Cancer Center, as well as with those at the 200 centers and institutes located within UMDNJ, including: The New Jersey Center for Evidence-Based Practice at UMDNJ-School of Nursing, Stanley Bergen Center for Multicultural Education, Research and Practice at UMDNJ-School of Nursing; Institute for the Elimination of Health Disparities; and The Institute for Alternative and Complementary Medicine.

The School of Nursing (SN) is one of eight schools comprising the University. UMDNJ is ranked among the top 100 research universities in the nation, with more than $318 million in external grants and contracts in FY 2006.

The School of Nursing is committed to advancing the scientific base of nursing practice. Candidates for the Endowed Professorship should have the following qualifications:

- ◆ An earned doctorate in Nursing or related field
- ◆ Eligible for Associate Professor or full Professor rank and tenure
- ◆ A distinctive record of research, publication and scholarship
- ◆ National and international recognition as an investigator
- ◆ A proven track record of securing research funding
- ◆ A record of successful teaching at the graduate level.

Please apply or nominate an individual who can provide strong leadership for the UMDNJ Endowed Professorship of Oncology Nursing. Applicants should send a letter of interest and curriculum vitae to:
